

Dear Multi-Age Families --

This is the beginning of the 7th week of “Learning at Home” and the beginning of “Phase III” of the Brunswick School Department’s plan for distance learning. We hope that familiarity with the “new normal” as well as increasing sunshine and temperatures mean that your stress levels about schooling for your children are a bit lower. Remember, we’re all in this together and we are here to help!

Phase III? What’s the same?

- Caring for the physical and emotional needs of you and your children first
- Contacting us for help and support
- A Home Learning Plan every week (This looks like a calendar with learning activities for each subject area and week day.)
- District goals for children to engage and practice

Phase III? What’s different?

- District laptops loaned to families means almost everyone has a little bit of virtual access to class (If you still need a device please call the technology department at 319-1990 for an appointment.)
- District goal for each teacher to connect with their classroom every day -- group Zoom meeting, online story, Seesaw or Class Dojo “assignment”, class message, etc.
- District goal for each teacher to connect with each student each week -- personal email exchange, feedback on an online assignment, small group or one-on-one zoom, phone call, etc.
- Multi-Age goal to connect the Home Learning Plan and digital learning opportunities (The Home Learning Plan can be used independently, however it is strengthened by and connected to digital opportunities for learning. Please consider connecting to Seesaw for Mrs. Erb, Ms. Lowe, and Mrs. Stinson and to Class Dojo for Mr. Funderburk.)

Be well!
