

Possible Migration Routes of the First Americans

Directions:
Write the name of each culture region in the box provided.

Inuit Food

ate _____, sea mammals (_____), and land
mammals (caribou, deer)

Inuit Clothing

wore clothing made from the _____ of the
_____ they eat

Inuit
Shelter
(summer)

summer homes were _____ sewn together and held up with sticks or _____ ribs

Inuit
Shelter
(winter)

winter houses were partly _____ and built with _____
and/or seal skin roofs

Inuit Shelter

( _____ - while hunting on ice)

Kwakiutl Food

ate _____, sea mammals, deer, birds, small game, clams, _____, seaweed,
berries, and roots

Kwakiutl Clothing

men and women both often wore clothing made of _____ and sometimes wore _____ hats made of finely woven _____ designs and patterns displayed a person's status and family

Kwakiutl Shelter

lived in villages of rectangular _____ houses up to
_____ with bark roofs housed as many as _____ people from several families of the same _____ in each house

Iroquois Food

ate corn, beans, _____, berries and herbs and deer, _____ and fish

Iroquois Clothing

men wore _____ with long leggings women wore wraparound _____ with shorter leggings or a _____ called an overdress

Iroquois Shelter

lived in villages of _____,
or large wood-frame buildings covered with sheets of elm _____ were up to _____ feet long and housed an entire clan
(as many as 60 people)

Pueblo Food

ate _____ more than anything else, but also ate squash, peppers
would eat rabbit, gopher, squirrel, deer, antelope, and _____ when available

Pueblo Clothing

women wore knee-length cotton dresses called _____ men wore _____ or short kilts

Pueblo Shelter

lived in multi-story house complexes made of _____ (clay and straw baked into bricks) each adobe unit was home to one family (like an _____) used _____ to reach upstairs apartments

Sioux Shelter

Sioux lived in large buffalo-hide tents called _____ (or teepees) carefully designed to set up and break down quickly.

An entire Sioux village could be packed up and ready to move within
_____.

Originally tipis were only about 12 feet high, but after the Sioux acquired _____, they began building them twice that size.

Sioux Food

ate fruits, _____ and deer,
and vegetables such as _____, squash, and beans

Sioux Clothing

Sioux women wore long deerskin or _____ dresses.
Sioux men wore _____ and leggings and buckskin shirts.